Unique Student Identifier - USI

Student Information for the Unique Student Identifier

USI...bringing your skills together

From 1 January 2015 if you are undertaking nationally recognised training delivered by a registered training organisation you will need to have a Unique Student Identifier (USI). This includes studying at TAFE or with a private training organisation, completing an apprenticeship or skill set, certificate or diploma course.

A USI gives you access to your online USI account which is made up of ten numbers and letters. It will look something like this: 3AW88YH9U5.

A USI account will contain all your nationally recognised training records and results from 1 January 2015 onwards. Your results from 2015 will be available in your USI account in 2016.

When applying for a job or enrolling in further study, you will often need to provide your training records and results. One of the main benefits of the USI is that you will have easy access to your training records and results throughout your life.

You can access your USI account online from a computer, tablet or smart phone anywhere and anytime.

Do you need a USI?

You will need a USI when you enrol or re-enrol in training from 1 January 2015 if you are a:

- student enrolling in nationally recognised training for the first time, for example if you are studying at TAFE or with a private training organisation, completing an apprenticeship or skill set, certificate or diploma course;
- school student completing nationally recognised training; or
- Student continuing with nationally recognised training
- If you are a student who has already started your course in a previous year (and not yet completed it) and will continue studying after 1 January 2015.

Once you create your USI you will need to give your USI to each training organisation you study with so your training outcomes can be linked and you will be able to:

- view and update your details in your USI account;
- give your training organisation permission to view and/or update your USI account;
- give your training organisation view access to your transcript;
- control access to your transcript; and
- view online and download your training records and results in the form of a transcript which will help you with job applications and enrolment in further training.

If you are an international, overseas or an offshore student please visit www.usi.gov.au for more information.

Program Delivery

At Parker Brent we aim to provide training and assessment services that are:

Suitable: the training and assessment meets the individual's needs, links to likely job and/or participation outcomes and minimises duplication of the individual's existing competencies; and

Appropriate: the training and assessment is delivered to regulatory and industry standards, uses delivery modes and durations optimised for the individual's needs and includes reasonable support to facilitate the individual's participation and attainment.

Depending on your employment situation and training needs, Parker Brent programs are delivered through either, online learning (real time) based delivery or Workplace based delivery.

- At the first session the students are briefed on the course/program, the trainer will then explain how the Training Plan works, what are the Start and End dates allocated to each unit of competency.
- The Training Plan (contract for training services) is signed by both the student and trainer acknowledging that they agree to the terms and conditions of the Training Plan/contract.

Training Plan:

1. The name and contact details of Parker Brent
  2. Trainer/Assessor responsible for the delivery and assessment of program
  3. Code and title of the qualification
  4. Unit title and code of competencies/modules to be obtained
  5. Program Unique Supervised Hours (PUSH) hours for the program
  6. Nominal hours for each unit of competency
  7. Timeframe for achieving competency for each unit, this includes the;
    - Unit Proposed Start Date – when unit is commenced; and
    - Unit Proposed End Date – when assessment tasks for the unit are due to be submitted to the trainer
    - Completion date- when the last learning session with the trainer will finish
  8. Assessment details and arrangements
  9. Delivery modes to be used in assessment process
  10. Party/ies responsible for delivery and assessment of each unit
  11. Record of any RPL or Credit Transfer
  12. Signatures of the student and trainer on all copies of the training plans
  13. Notes: Any PTR/LLN actions recommended/required
- Students are also shown how to access the Student Portal/Learning Management System (LMS) that provides supportive learning materials.
  - The training and assessment is provided by trainers and assessors and at times guest speakers who have extensive industry expertise and can provide detailed technical/practical knowledge to ensure that the evidence of competency provided is relevant and accurate to building industry requirements.
  - Each unit of competency is assessed in real workplace environments from a direct supervisor/employer and in the classroom by trainer/assessor (through direct and indirect observation/evidence).
  - Parker Brent assessors will attend the students' workplace in order to directly observe tasks against each unit of competency. There will be a minimum of 4 visits to the workplace for each student. A number of units will be assessed at each visit.
  - Assessment activities require students to have access to a building site. Students that are currently working in the industry will have access to their own supervisors/employers. Where students are unable to conduct the observation at their workplace, Parker Brent will provide the option of undertaking the observation assessment at a simulated working environment in Lalor at Outer Northern Trade Training Centre (ONTTC) where the trainer/assessor will conduct the assessment at the facility on a Saturday morning or during the allocated time stated on the class delivery schedule.
  - Students do receive feedback from the trainer/teacher and assessor on Assessment Activities and if further action is required an action plan is agreed upon. The assessor then undertakes a re-assessment against the action plan items, verifying the activities and the evidence required to confirm all the requirements to deem competency were achieved.

- The training is delivered via online learning in real time for two (2) nights per week from 5.30pm to 9.30pm via ZOOM online learning platform where students apply the skills and knowledge required in an online learning environment with their trainer present at all times. The white card training is delivered face to face via classroom environment undertaking theory delivery, learning activities and assessments from 9am to 4pm.
- The requirements for access to a workplace environment for construction induction and the roles of the people involved are explained.
- All students are required to obtain a construction induction training card (white card) within the first month of commencing the course with Parker Brent in addition to providing a current driver licence and medicare card.
- If you are currently employed in the Building and Construction Industry, you are required to have your trainer/assessor to validate your skills and abilities covered in each unit of competency. You will be required to have access to a building site/building office OR access to Parker Brent's simulated work environment.
- Students may appeal against the assessment outcome by notifying the assessor or by contacting the Parker Brent office. Further details of RTO policies and procedures and students' rights and responsibilities are provided in the Student Handbook or by contacting the Parker Brent office.

Online Learning (real time) based delivery

Online learning (real time) based delivery makes use of a mixture of two main delivery methods:

- Face to face classroom sessions in real time via the ZOOM online learning platform
- Student reading, research, learning activities and assessment tasks

Depending on the chosen program, students will be required to attend online learning (real time) based sessions two (2) nights per week where a suitably qualified trainer will facilitate a range of learning experiences including:

- Case studies
- Facilitator led instructions
- Group learning activities

How it works

After enrolment a tailored training plan will be documented, in conjunction with you and Parker Brent. This plan will detail:

- All units to be undertaken
- Proposed start and end dates
- Delivery methods
- Assessment methods

At the first training session, you and your Parker Brent trainer will discuss the requirements of the first unit. This will include:

- what learning resources should be read
- what activities should be completed
- the assessment tasks to be completed
- any work task opportunities the student should be exposed to during the coming month

After this has been discussed the trainer will then commence training on the unit/s with you.

During the program, students will be required to:

- Attend online learning (real time) based training 2 nights per week for entire course duration (34 weeks for Certificate IV and 50 weeks for Diploma) and advise the trainer if unable to attend class
- Complete the Assessment Tasks as per time frames on Training Plan, start and end dates
- Complete the Learning Activities as instructed
- Answer ALL questions in the Learning Activities and Assessment Tasks booklet
- Complete the Questionnaire at the end of each unit of competency
- Conduct the nominated research required and self-paced learning to achieve competency
- Discuss the topics with their colleagues, trainer/assessor
- Read the Learning Resources

- Participate in class activities designed to enhance learning
- Review how the process is completed in their workplace
- Talk to people in the industry about their knowledge and experiences
- Submit all assessments to the Trainer via the student portal or Learning Management System (LMS).

Students receive feedback from the trainer and assessor on assessment activities and are provided with support where required.

Workplace based delivery (if applicable)

If you are currently working in Building and Construction, Parker Brent has developed a workplace delivery model to meet your training needs.

This training program is delivered via self-paced learning, where you are given the opportunity to apply your skills and knowledge on the job and undertake workplace-based activities under the guidance of a Parker Brent trainer and nominated workplace supervisor.

The training is delivered as a combination of:

- Student reading, research, learning activities and assessment tasks
- on-the-job skill-based training in conjunction with workplace supervisor
- training review sessions conducted with a Parker Brent trainer

It combines trainer led one-on-one sessions at the workplace, on-job training with the employer, as well as self-directed learning through the use of a comprehensive workbook and individual research.

You are provided with training materials for each unit, including theoretical knowledge, self-directed exercises, and reference materials. You are expected to manage time effectively in order to progress through units at an appropriate pace.

Assessment of competency will be made through workplace projects, the completion of workbooks activities and tasks, question and answers.

How it works

After enrolment a tailored training plan will be documented, in conjunction with you, your employer and Parker Brent. This plan will detail:

- all units to be undertaken
- proposed start and end dates
- delivery methods
- assessment methods

At the first training session, you, your nominated supervisor and Parker Brent trainer will discuss the requirements of the first unit, or group of units. This will include:

- what learning resources should be read
- what activities should be completed
- the assessment tasks to be completed
- any work task opportunities the student should be exposed to during the coming month

After this has been discussed the trainer will then commence training on the unit/s with you. This will usually take about an hour.

You, with the support of your workplace supervisor as well as telephone and email support through Parker Brent, will then work on the learning activities, reading and assessment tasks that have been given to you to complete. An agreed date for the next visit will have been set, and this date will generally be the due date for all work to be completed.

Subsequent meetings will follow a similar format to the first meeting but will also include an assessment element. This may involve the Parker Brent trainer:

- discussing your performance with the workplace supervisor
- observing you perform certain tasks in the workplace
- discussing the completed assessment with you and record your progress

“Work Placed Based Roles and Responsibilities on page 8 of this handbook”

Recognition of Prior Learning and Credit Transfer

There are different terms used to refer to the recognition of an individual's previous learning and current skills. These include Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL), Credit Transfer (CT) and National Recognition.

Recognition of Prior Learning is a form of assessment used to determine whether a person has achieved through formal or informal learning and experience, the required skills and knowledge to be able to demonstrate competence in one or more units of competency

Credit Transfer is recognition and acceptance of records of results and statements of attainment issued by another trainer provider or TAFE enabling credit for studies previously completed. This is used where units of competency that have been previously completed have an identical unit code.

National Recognition is recognition and acceptance of records of results and statements of attainment issues by another training provider or TAFE enabling credit for studies previously completed. This is used where units of competency that have been previously completed have been superseded and replaced by an updated version of that unit, where equivalency is maintained.

Parker Brent will ensure that your learning and skills are recognised, irrespective of how or where they have been acquired. You may apply for recognition of your learning and skills by supplying evidence of:

- Non-accredited training you have undertaken
- Recognised training you have previously completed
- Work and life experiences

Your application should be completed on the prescribed Parker Brent form and include:

- Academic history
- Current and past employment status
- Reason for learning and development
- Recognition of Prior Learning/Credit Transfer/National Recognition for previous training completed

At the time of application, you will be told which documents to present. You may be invited to attend an interview to discuss the application and further information/documentation may be requested.

Where applicable, exemptions/credits will be given and recorded, and Qualifications/Statements of Attainment issued. If you do not agree with the outcome of any recognition you apply for you may appeal the decision. The Complaints and Appeals process is explained later in this handbook.

Harassment, Victimisation & Bullying

Parker Brent is committed to providing a workplace and learning environment that is free of harassment, victimisation and bullying. Workplace harassment, victimisation and bullying are unacceptable and will not be tolerated under any circumstances. They may cause emotional damage, reduce morale and subsequently the loss of trained and talented employees.

Examples of bullying include yelling, abusive language, continually criticising someone, isolating or ignoring someone, imposing unnecessary pressure with overwork or impossible deadlines and sabotaging someone's work, or their ability to do their job by withholding vital information and resources.

Bullying is usually behaviour that is repeated over time but may result from a single act. Parker Brent encourages you to report harassment, victimisation and bullying. The procedure for doing is as follows:

Tell the person(s) involved that you find their behaviour offensive and that it is against the law. Insist that they stop IMMEDIATELY.

If they do not stop immediately, report it to;

- The trainer/assessor, or if this person cannot be approached, contact the Training Manager on office phone number 1300 773 737 or (03) 9088 6300, who, by law, must act quickly if harassment, victimisation or bullying is brought to their attention.

The person you report it to must take the complaint seriously, act quickly and confidentially to investigate the incident. They must listen to both sides, and if they believe harassment, victimisation or bullying has occurred, they must report the incident immediately.

You will not be harassed or victimised for having made the complaint, nor will any witnesses or other parties involved in this incident.

If the matter is not resolved to the satisfaction of all parties, the complaint can be formally lodged with the Victorian Equal Opportunity Commission on www.humanrightscommission.vic.gov.au

All parties will keep the incident confidential, sharing details of the incident only with those involved in resolution of the incident.

Anti-discrimination and equal opportunity

All staff and students are required by these laws to create an environment free from discrimination and harassment. It is important that you, as a student of Parker Brent, understand your rights and responsibilities under human rights and anti-discrimination law in Australia.

The importance of preventing discrimination is also stressed in the principal objects of the Workplace Relations Act 1996 (Cth), which refers to respecting and valuing the diversity of the workforce by helping to prevent and eliminate discrimination on the basis of race, colour, sex, sexual preference, age, disability, marital status, family responsibilities, pregnancy, religion, political opinion, national extraction or social origin.

Plagiarism and Cheating

Plagiarism and cheating is unacceptable and there are penalties for it.

Plagiarism is a form of cheating and involves using the work of another person and presenting it as your own. Any of the following acts constitutes plagiarism unless the source of each quotation or piece of borrowed material is clearly acknowledged.

- copying out part(s) of any document or audio-visual material (including computer-based material)
- in an assignment where there was collaborative preparatory work, submitting substantially the same final version of any material as another student
- summarising another person's work
- using or extracting another person's concepts, experimental results, or conclusions

It is also unacceptable for you to assist another student to plagiarise by lending an assignment, so that it can be copied and handed in as another student's work.

If you are preparing a group assignment, it is necessary to discuss and plan together. However, you should always write assignments individually so that there is no suggestion of cheating. All students, in both group and individual assignments, must acknowledge information from other sources.

Consequences

If you submit work that has been plagiarised or you are caught cheating you will not be assessed. Where possible, you will be given an opportunity to re-submit your assessment. If acceptable, the second submission will be assessed and included in your final results. If you do not submit further work for assessment, no grade will be given for that assignment task, a Not Satisfactory (NS) recorded.

Any staff member who suspects an instance of plagiarism or cheating will report the situation to the Training Manager. It will be determined if the case warrants more than a warning. If so, you will be informed in writing of the nature of the complaint and informed of the disciplinary policy and procedure.

Under all circumstances where the Training Manager finds that plagiarism or cheating has occurred, a Breach of Discipline form will be added to your file. You will be given the opportunity to add a comment to the record and will be asked to sign the form. A copy of the form will also be given to you.

Unit Assessment Record (UAR)

All assessment tasks have a cover sheet which should be signed and attached to your completed task and submitted. This cover sheet has 'Statement of Authorship' which states that the work is your own, and that all material from other sources has been acknowledged, you MUST SIGN this form.

Strategies to Avoid Plagiarism

To help avoid plagiarism you can:

- Always include details of the text when taking notes – author, date, title, publisher, page number – so you can include these in your referencing. (Ref: Duke University Libraries 2004)
- Check your paraphrase against the original text to be sure you have not accidentally used the same words, and that the information is accurate.
- Paraphrase, but be sure you are not just rearranging or replacing a few words.
- Use quotation marks for everything that comes directly from another source when taking notes.

Parker Brent seeks to minimise plagiarism and cheating by:

Supporting staff and students in identifying and acknowledging the difference:

- Informing students of Parker Brent's Plagiarism and Cheating Policy.
- Knowledge or information that is a creation or application of someone else's work (original source material)
- Knowledge that is learned, acquired or found;

Detecting plagiarism and cheating

It is important you are aware that Parker Brent has processes in place to actively detect plagiarism and cheating.

Parker Brent is committed to the following steps to encounter the incidence of plagiarism and cheating:

- Be vigilant in the detection of plagiarism
- Checking the use of referencing in all submitted assessment tasks
- Ensure assessments are conducted by suitably qualified assessors
- Ensure that only assessment accompanied by a completed copy of the Unit Assessment Record (and sent from a recognised email address in the case of email submission), is accepted
- Ensuring that students understand the difference between cooperative learning, group work and collusion.

- Provide transparent and consistent feedback to students about issues relating to referencing
- The provision of examples of appropriate referencing techniques and practice
